This was a fascinating course that did a good job of balancing range of topics and depth of each topic explored. While it was sometimes difficult to predict exactly what was expected for writing assignments, I received valuable feedback and had a chance to apply it.

Amy knows a lot about this and answered questions with a lot of thought, but despite her knowledge, she's very open and responsive to our thoughts, hypotheses, and opinions. She did a great job of integrating articles and connecting them to each other, the course as a whole, and our individual comments.

I have never taken a 300 level previously and I am so happy I got Amy as my first professor. Each topic was carefully planned out & the materials directly covered the topics in an easily understandable way.

Amy is one of the best teachers I have ever had. She is good at explaining complicated ideas and approaches class in a way that is really fun to be around. I am excited to hopefully be in another one of her classes soon.

I really like Amy! One small suggestion - at the beginning of the semester, you gave us a short break in the middle of class, but forgot to do that a few weeks in. A quick stretch in the middle of a seminar makes a big difference!

I felt a bit like Amy assumed we knew more about the subjects than we actually did (because she's very knowledgeable obviously) but it made me slightly lost in the course at times.
